COLLEGUES AND MENTORS

“She most successfully pulled together many, sometimes competing, interests of mid level managers, crafted a contract which incorporated the main points each side wanted. Ms. Orr did much more than simply find the route of least resistance among several parties, but rather brought disparate parties together in a shared view of a common end-the best for all involved given the many particular, small differences. Ms Orr possesses this skill and can well use it in any circumstance of diverse-social business.”

Edward T. Rewolinski, PhD, M.B.A.
Formerly Vice Chair of Finance
University of Minnesota

“I was astonished at the quality of her written work. It is also evident to me that she has a gift for analytical thinking” Michael Even Gold,
